Change language of eWON web interface
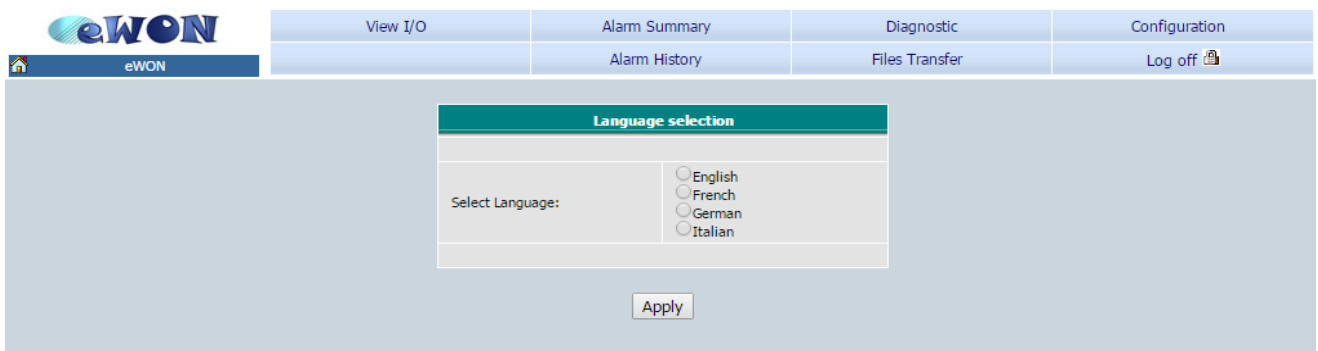

The following document explains how to change the language of the web interface when configuring the eWON.

1. Flexy

1.1. First time configuring

When connecting for the first time (or after a Reset Level 2) to the web pages of an eWON, this one will ask you to choose a language.

After selecting the language, this choice will be stored in the "Language" parameter inside the COM cfg file.

If none is selected, the language will be the default one: English. The language question will be displayed each time you connect to the eWON and until you finally choose one.
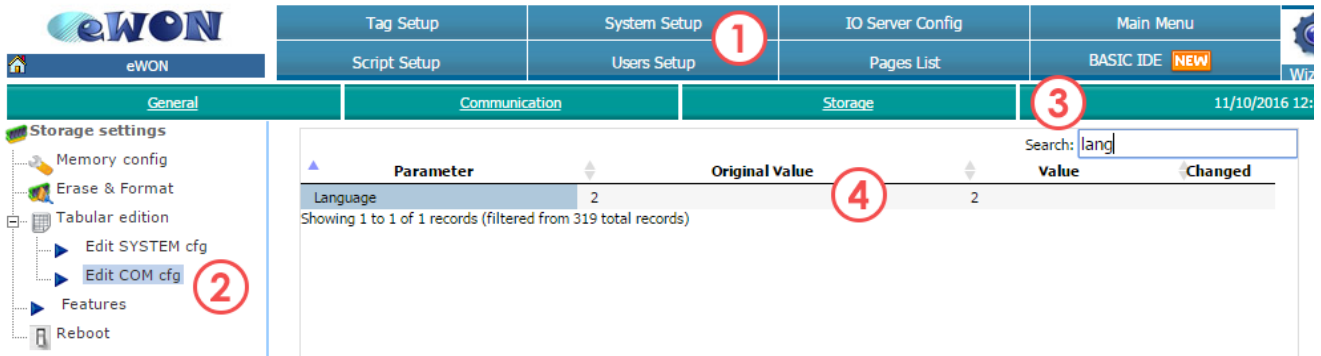

1.2. Changing eWON language

If the language has been chosen but needs to be changed, go to

```
Configuration > System Setup > Storage > Tabular edition > Edit COM cfg
```

Search for the term "Language" and set to -1.

Close/re-open thr browser, connect to the eWON homepage in order to be offered the choice to select the language.
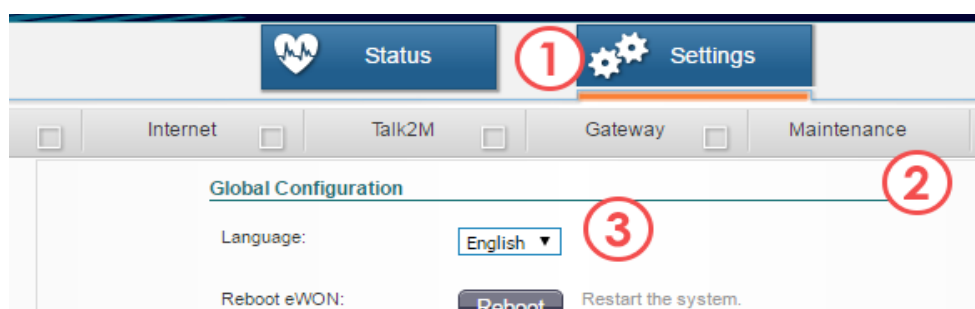

2. Cosy

2.1. Method 1: Using the interface

When accessing for the first time the homepage of an eWON Cosy (or after a Reset Level 2), you will be asked to choose a language. There is no alternative to decide later.

When the language has already been set up, there is an easy way to change the Cosy web pages language. Simply go to

Settings > Maintenance > Language
```

Select the desired language and save.

2.2. Method 2: Using the parameter

Following the Flexy procedure in a Cosy is possible. To do so, go to

```
Settings > Maintenance > Show Advanced options > Edit COM configuration

Just as for the Flexy, search for the Language parameter and change its value to -1. Close and re-open your browse, target the eWON homepage.
